BUSINESS OF COUNTY COURT

Bruce Sheaffer Gets Three Months in County Jail. Take Action to Secure Release of John L. Shultz.
Other Business.

At a session of Court held on Monday Bruce Sheaffer was given a three months' sentence in the county jail upon his plea of guilty on a charge of assault on Daniel Skelly. It will be recalled that some months ago Sheaffer struck Skelly in front of Mundorf's cigar store on Chambersburg street. Sheaffer was arrested a day or two later in York County on another charge and was brought here after completing his sentence in the neighboring county.

New trial was refused in the case of the Rocky Ridge Coal and Mining Company vs. John R. Bittinger trading as the Bittinger Lime Company.

Habeas corpus proceedings were brought to secure the release of John L. Shultz arrested last week in connection with the Biglerville street fight of Saturday, September 16, in which John C. Stover was severely hurt. The matter will be heard on Friday, September 29.

Argument was resumed in the case of the Western Maryland Railway Company vs. the County of Adams in the matter of the proposed increase in passenger rates.

Exceptions were filed by William Hersh to the report of Robert E. Wible in the estate of Mary Wert, deceased.

A rule was awarded, returnable October 16, on the executors of Mary C. Wert, deceased, citing them to appear and show cause why collateral inheritance should not be paid.

WANT NEW TRIAL

Hon. John W. Hoke and Irvin C. Elder, Esq., counsel for William Reed, Mont Alto, convicted of murder in the first degree at the recent term of court, Monday afternoon, in Chambersburg, filed seventeen reasons why a new trial should be granted and, also, for arrest of judgment.

The first six of these reasons deal with assignments of error in Judge Gillan's charge as to the law.

The other reasons are, in brief, as follows:

7th. The judge laid so little stress on second degree murder as to practically eliminate it from consideration.

8th. The judge failed to say that Reed had denied making threats against Sadie Mathanue.

9th. The judge referred to the threats as though they were proven facts.

10th. The review of the evidence by the court was inadequate and inaccurate.

11th. The judge gave more prominence to the evidence of the commonwealth than to that of the defendant.

12th. The judge erred in not instructing the jury that it must be convinced beyond a reasonable doubt.

13th. After the jury was impaneled the members were allowed to read newspaper reports of the trial.

14th. The jury was influenced by a knowledge of public opinion, based on reports printed prior to the trial, giving but one side of the case.

15th. The judge erred in not reading to the jury the defendant's seventh point.

16th. The verdict was not the finding of the entire jury. Some of the jurymen voted for the verdict in first degree in order to arrive at a concurrence.

17th. The judge really instructed the jury to find a verdict of murder in the first degree.

No time has been set for argument of the motion. It is probable that this argument will not be held until next week and then in open court as Reed must be present.

COMMISSIONER WEIKERT BETTER

County Commissioner William K. Weikert, who was taken suddenly ill on Saturday, is much better today and his many friends throughout the county will be glad to learn that he is sufficiently recovered to be out of bed. His complete recovery is hoped for within a short time.

MISSIONARY CONVENTION

The thirtieth annual convention of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the West, Pennsylvania Lutheran Synod, will be held in St. Mark's church, Hanover, Rev. C. M. Stock, D.D., pastor, October 18-20.

THE Boston Shoe Repairing Company, 46 Chambersburg street, will be closed from Saturday evening until eleven o'clock Tuesday morning on account of holiday. Shoes can be left at Ziegler's pool room.

DON'T forget Howard J. Spalding's horse sale at Biglerville, October 2. See big ad.

CHILDREN MUST ATTEND SCHOOL

Compulsory Attendance Law will be Put in Force Next Monday. New School Code Gives Truant Officer Great Authority.

Beginning on Monday, October 2, the compulsory school law will be enforced in Gettysburg. Andrew Utz, the truant officer, will then enter upon his duties and all children between the ages of eight and sixteen will be compelled to attend school regularly.

The new code is very plain and definite in the matter of compulsory attendance and gives the truant officer right to enter any building or home, where children may be, in order to arrest them for non-attendance or truancy. Anyone resisting a truant officer or refusing him admittance may be fined or imprisoned.

This officer is also compelled by law to arrest the parent of any child who is an habitual truant and present him for trial before a justice of the peace. Anyone illegally employing a child who should be in school is also subject to a fine. This refers not only to factory employment but to all employment, such as hack driving, etc.

No one under fourteen may be employed as to prevent regular school attendance, and all between fourteen and sixteen, in order to stay out of school for work must have a certificate of employment issued by the supervising principal.

BARLOW

Barlow, Sept. 26.—On account of the extremely wet season the sowing of the grain is considerably later this year than usual in this section. Many of the farmers of this locality are sowing time before sowing the grain.

Miss Ruth Koser, of Arendtsville, recently spent several days with the Rev. E. Stocklager and family.

Misses Eva and Virgie Klinefelter and Victor Klinefelter, of New Oxford, spent Saturday and Sunday at the home of Dallas Plank.

Quite a number of the people of this vicinity attended the Hanover Fair last week.

Services at Mt. Joy next Sunday at 10.00 a. m.; Sunday School at 9.00; Christian Endeavor at 7.00 p. m.

GAME PLENTIFUL

All kinds of game, according to State Game Protector Kalbfus, will be more plentiful this year than they have been for years and the hunting season promises to be good.

"Quail," said Dr. Kalbfus "are very plentiful except in the southeastern counties, where the close cultivation has driven them out. Pheasants are numerous. In fact, the wardens, berry pickers and others who have been out in the woods in different parts of the state, say they are frequently discovered in groups instead of only in pairs as pheasants usually are found."

"Wild turkeys are first rate and deer are in greater number than they have been for many years. Bear are reported to be numerous, also. Squirrels are fairly plentiful, and rabbits seem to be everywhere."

The Game Commissioner has already experienced some trouble in enforcing the game laws. Within a few days, it is expected, the new game and fish laws will be published in pamphlet form.

LOCAL CHORIR TO ORGANIZE

Chautauqua Choir Decides to Form a Permanent Organization. Temporary
Officers Elected. Future
Plans of Society.

The association of Gettysburg singers, known as the Chautauqua Choir through their enjoyable work at the time of the August attraction, decided at their practice for the county Sunday School convention on Monday evening to form a permanent organization. They elected as temporary officers, I. L. Taylor, president; Mrs. Clyde B. Stover, secretary; Mark K. Eckert, pianist; I. L. Taylor, leader. An executive committee was appointed made up of the above officers and Miss Ruth Clutz, Miss Helen Rupp and Mrs. Harry Trostle.

Later permanent officers will be chosen, a name for the organization will be selected and the permanent organization effected. It is probable that this will take the place of the defunct Gettysburg Oratorio Society but it is not the purpose of those interested in the new society to attempt any such ambitious projects as those which were taken up by their predecessors.

The fact that Gettysburg has an abundance of vocal talent has never been more completely and successfully demonstrated than by the Chautauqua Choir and it is a matter of general congratulation that it is not going to be allowed to pass out of existence after its work of the summer months. There are about one hundred members now and this will most probably increase as interest and enthusiasm grows.

Some special concert work has already been suggested for the Christmas holidays and the society starts upon its career with the best wishes of the many Gettysburg people who care to see that form of entertainment fostered.

HIKED TO GETTYSBURG

Hiking parties are frequent in this section and one of the most elaborate in that class was the one enjoyed by the members of the Hanover Knights of Columbus, who, on Sunday walked to Gettysburg. The start was made before daybreak and the party, returned on the evening train over the Western Maryland railway, well pleased with their adventure, although somewhat tired.

The hikers left their hall at 4.15 o'clock and the first stop was made at Bonneauville, where they attended mass in St. Joseph's church. The party then were served with breakfast at Hotel Wagner. The pedestrians afterwards left Bonneauville at 9 o'clock and arrived in Gettysburg at 11.30, stopping at the Wahash hotel. The party spent the afternoon in Gettysburg and returned to Hanover on the train arriving there at 6.27.

Those in the party were D. A. Frommeyer, Nicholas Wagner, Frank Kale, G. A. Chrismer, Frank Paden, Stanley Sheivert, John Ereighner, Bernard Ekl, Joseph Brenner, Edward Lawrence, Tobias Flesham, John Klunk, Gilbert Klunk, Preston Smith, and Augustus Kinder.

OPEN NEW GARAGE

The new garage of the Central Auto Company, William F. Codori, Jr., manager, has been sufficiently far advanced to open for business and the new automobile house is already receiving a share of patronage from local and other people. The place when completed will be completely fitted up with ladies' and gentlemen's retiring rooms as well as all the appliances of a thoroughly equipped garage. It will have a depth of 181 feet and will be sufficiently large to accommodate many machines. One of the special features of the new garage is free storage to people from the county who come into town to spend a few hours either in day or evening.

FOR GOOD ROADS

A special effort is being made to get a good attendance at the meeting to be held at the Hotel Gettysburg this evening for the purpose of taking steps towards securing the resurfacing of the York pike between here and New Oxford this fall. Constant complaint is heard from automobilists who travel over that road and its being put into condition would mean much to the town. Burgess Holtzworth has called the meeting for eight o'clock. It will be held in the dining room of the hotel and should be largely attended.

DON'T forget Howard J. Spalding's horse sale at Biglerville, October 2. See big ad.

DON'T forget the public sale of valuable machinery at the factory of the Gettysburg Construction Company, on Friday, September 29th.

SACHS-HARTZELL HOME WEDDING

Luther Sachs, of Waynesboro, and Miss Nora Hartzell, of Near Gettysburg, Married at Noon on Lawn at Bride's Home.

The lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jere T. Hartzell, near town, was the scene of an unusually pretty wedding at noon today when their daughter, Miss Nora O. Hartzell was married to Luther I. Sachs, of Waynesboro. The lawn was prettily decorated with flowers and the guests were grouped on either side of the aisle down which the wedding party marched.

As the wedding march was played by Mrs. Harry Thomas, a sister of the bride, the flower girls, Evelyn Thomas and Miriam Hartzell, nieces of the bride, appeared at the head of the wedding party. They wore dainty dresses of cream silk and were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Daisy Wentz who wore pink messaline and carried pink carnations. With her was the best man, R. Boyd Nell, of Allen, a classmate of the groom at Gettysburg College.

Mildred Hartzell, the ring bearer, wearing a dress of white embroidery, came next in the wedding procession and then the bride and groom. The bride wore a gown of cream messaline trimmed with lace. She carried bride's roses. Rev. Joseph B. Baker performed the ceremony.

After an informal reception and luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Sachs left for Waynesboro where they will make their home. Mr. Sachs being engaged with his father, Henry Sachs in contracting. The bride's going away costume was of brown cheviot with hat to match.

SURVEYS ROADS

Forester Robert G. Conklin of the Caledonia State reserve is now engaged in a work that will prove of great use to him in his work and will also be of benefit to the many citizens who use the roads on the reserve either for business or pleasure.

The Caledonia reserve lies on both sides of the Chambersburg pike. With the pike as a base line he is now engaged in making a survey of all the roads, trails and fire lanes now on the reserve. When the map from these surveys is completed it will be used as a working basis in improving the reserve.

The idea he is working out is to have a road or fire lane within a mile from any other road or lane. This will be for fire protection primarily, but will be useful in other respects.

The different plats, made by the various roads and lanes, will be marked and afterwards designated as section so and so.

The roads will be marked with sign boards and thus people can wander through the mountains without fear of getting lost. At present there are roads and fire lanes, but the uninitiated fears to go far as he does not know whether they lead.

LARGE CONTRIBUTIONS

The Pentecost collection for the orphans of Sylvan Heights Home and the Paradise Protector for Boys, located at Abbottstown, which was taken up in all the Catholic churches within the boundaries of the Harrisburg diocese on Pentecost Sunday, amounted to $6,258.70.

The total contributions were submitted to the members of each parish in the diocese Sunday by the Rt. Rev. Bishop John W. Shanahan in a report showing the Catholic population per parish, its individual offering and average offering. The report covers four five column pages and gives the parishes and the names of those who collected and contributed.

The Church of Our Lady, Mt. Carmel, Pa., is the highest contributor. The collection from this church amounted to $493.25. St. Mary's, Lebanon is second in the diocese, they having contributed $411.

Monday evening's practice was the first real foot ball seen in Gettysburg this year. A fast scrimmage with good running, clean tackling and all around good gridiron work encouraged greatly the orange and blue supporters.

IF YOU HAVE A SICKLY YOUNGSTER TRY THIS FREE
The family with young children that is without sickness in the house now and then is rare, and so it is important that the head of the household should know what to do in the little emergencies that arise. A child with a serious ailment needs a doctor, it is true, but in the majority of instances, as any doctor knows, the child suffers from some intestinal trouble, usually constipation.
There is no sense in giving it a pill or a remedy containing an opiate, nor is flushing of the bowels to be always recommended. Rather give it a small dose of a mild, gentle laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, by cleaning out the bowels and strengthening the little stomach muscles, will immediately correct the trouble.
This is not alone our opinion but that of Mrs. N. H. Mead of Freeport, Kan., whose granddaughter has been taking it successfully and of Mrs. J. R. Whiting of Lena, Wis., who gives it to her children and takes it herself. It is sold in fifty cent and one dollar bottles at every drug store, but if you want to test it in your family before you buy it send your address to Dr. Caldwell and he will forward a trial bottle free of charge.

JUDGE KILLS GRAFT CASE
Directs Wilkes-Barre Jury to Acquitt Court House Defendants.
Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 26. — The court house conspiracy case fell through, Judge Bouten giving the jury binding instructions to return a verdict of not guilty.
The defendants, Contractor Frank Carlucci and Architects Frederick McCormick and Henry French, were charged with conspiracy in erecting the building.
The specific charge was that they had substituted plaster of paris for Keene cement in the $2,500,000 building. The commonwealth placed a number of witnesses upon the stand who swore that plaster of paris was used.
In his instructions Judge Bouten held that this allegation had not been proved and that there was nothing to show that a conspiracy existed between the contractor and the architects.

Wait for Rodgers
Wire Fence Scrape Will Cost Flyer Two Days.
Jamestown, N. Y., Sept. 26. — Aviator G. P. Rodgers, flying from New York to the Pacific, is stalled at Salamanca, Cataraugus county, and will not be able to leave until Thursday afternoon, if then.
His machine made a hole through the barbed wire fences of a lane near Red House. The smashup was so complete that his advance agent says it will be impossible to have the flying machine in readiness before two days from now. The wreck proved as bad as the three top tumble at Middletown last week.

J. C. CLARKE KILLED BY FALL OF AEROPLANE
Amateur Aviator Drops 100 Feet to Death.
New York, Sept. 26. — Dr. J. C. Clarke, a pupil of the Queen Monoplane school, at Belmont park, fell with his machine about 100 feet at the Nassau Boulevard aviation meet and suffered many injuries, which caused his death in the Nassau county hospital.
Clarke, who made his first flight alone about two weeks ago and was going to try for his pilot's license, attempted to bank his machine to the right while ascending and with the wind behind him.
Down crashed the monoplane—No. 13 by the way—in a fall that began as a spiral and ended in a straight dive, nose-on. Clarke's machine landed in the automobile parking space just a few moments after the megaphone man announced that Postmaster General Hitchcock would go aloft with Captain Beck and personally carry the aerial mail to Mineola. The postmaster general saw the aviator fall.
The programs printed before the meet began gave to Gene Ely the No. 13, but Ely refused to accept it. On the other hand, believes with Miss Matilde Moisant, that thirteen is a lucky number and has been using the thirteen on the machine he has been flying, one of which was the Queen American built monoplane of the Blériot type in which Clarke fell.

KILLED IN FAMILY FEUD
Col. J. A. Pettit Shot Dead on Hotel Porch at Lovington, Va.
Lovington, Va., Sept. 26. — Dr. James A. Pettit, of Roseland, thirty-eight years old, a colonel on Governor Mann's staff, was shot and killed by Benjamin Hubbard on a hotel porch here.
The men quarreled about an old grudge between their families. Hubbard fired six shots into Pettit's body.
Hid Big Robbery One Year.
St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 26. — That a registered package containing a bank shipment of between $25,000 and $30,000 in currency was stolen from the postoffice here a year ago became public for the first time Monday. Since the theft Postmaster T. J. Atkins and postoffice inspectors have worked zealously to keep the theft a secret while trying to find the thieves and their loot.

TAFT IN KANSAS SCORES BRYAN
Challenges Him to Show Weakness in Trust Decisions.
HUGE CROWDS GREET HIM
Advices Conservation Congress to Teach Farmers How to Increase Crops to Keep Pace With Growing Population.
Kansas City, Kan., Sept. 26. — President Taft had a kaleidoscopic view of insurgent Kansas. His program carried him into twelve towns and through three congressional districts.
Whole towns seemed to be gathered at the stations enroute to greet him. Except in perhaps two instances there was no noticeable difference between the warmth of his reception in Kansas and in the other states which he has visited on this trip. The day was undoubtedly a surprise to every one accompanying the president, perhaps including himself.
The president ended his speechmaking with his address before the conservation congress here, and here he was the one to spring the surprise, for instead of carrying off the preservers of our resources to the abstruse problems of the Alaskan coal fields, he bid them keep their attention to home and see to it that the American farmer was shown the way to increase the products of his lands in pace with the increase of the country's population. The great accomplishment for Mr. Taft was that he brought the people out to listen to him and secured their thoughtful attention while he told them of his issues.
In his speech at Cherryvale President Taft again challenged William J. Bryan to produce an example of restraint of trade which would not come within the purview of the supreme court's Standard Oil and American Tobacco decisions.
The president characterized the comments of Mr. Bryan and "other gentlemen" on the two decisions as "glib" and declared that if they could produce an instance of restraint of trade, which would not be included in the meaning of those decisions, he would yield to the criticism. The trust problem, the president said, through this decision is "reaching and nearing a solution."
Is National Safeguard.
The supreme court, he added, is the safeguard of the nation.
"It is a great court," said the president. "It says to one branch of the government so far shaft thou go and no further, and to another branch of the government 'so far shalt thou go and no further.' It's the greatest instrument for the administration of justice that man ever created, and on it must rest the hope of future government, in the preservation of the independence of all branches and the enforcement of the law."
Gathered around the president's car when he began to speak were hundreds of school children. Most of them wore tin drinking cups, tied around the waistline, in compliance with the Kansas individual drinking cup law.
The president chose the vetoes of the tariff bills for his theme at Independence, and received an attentive hearing. He declared he did not come to Kansas to apologize for having exercised executive disapproval of the woolen, the free list and the cotton tariff bills, but merely to explain to the people face to face.
Mr. Taft and his vetoes were the result of deep-seated conviction that he had a duty to perform. He explained anew that the tariff board should have an opportunity to report before any of the schedules of the existing law are touched, and he promised that the board would be ready to report on the woolen and one or two other important schedules during the coming session of congress.
Hails $50,000,000 Loan to China.
Peking, China, Sept. 26. — The Chinese government has refused the terms of a salary of $50,000 and a single year contract made by the Dutch banker, Vining, proposed as financial adviser to China, and has asked the United States to select another financial adviser. It is said the question of the foreign adviser's powers still delays conclusion of the $50,000,000 currency reform loan.
Two Found Shot to Death.
Basin, Wyo., Sept. 26. — Mrs. Edna Richards Jenkins, youngest daughter of former Governor W. A. Richards, of Wyoming, and her husband, George Jenkins, assistant manager of Governor Richards' home farm near Red Bank, were found dead, with bullet holes through the bodies. Whether it is a case of double murder or murder and suicide has not been determined.
Invents New Airship.
Utica, N. Y., Sept. 26. — R. O. Hammond, a Rome, N. Y., inventor, has taken out letters patent on a new and improved airship, which he announces will revolutionize the airship business. He has returned from Washington with the drawings, which are pronounced by experts to be perfect, and he said that his ship would be the first to fly from coast to coast.

Later he recovered sufficiently to declare that Andrew Lipsky and Edward Hashburn, aged fifteen years, had caught him and strung him up after declaring that he was the fellow they wanted. They were arrested and held for a hearing.

What's In a Name?
A Good Deal Sometimes
By E. L. THOMPSON
Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.
My maiden name was Alice Beatrice Chomondelay. My father, having lost his estates in England when I was a baby, brought his family to the United States. When he reached here he had nothing left but an aristocratic name.
My father's fortune so far improved in America that by the time I became a young lady we were able to move in the best society. One evening at a social gathering I met a young Englishman who seemed from the first to take a desperate fancy to me, and I was equally pleased with him. Indeed, it was a case of love at first sight.
I didn't distinctly hear the young man's name, but I understood it to be Cummings. He had no sooner left me than the hostess, who introduced him, came to me and said:
"That young man is immensely wealthy. His grandfather made a fortune in fish, but his father has never been in trade, and this one of the third generation is desirous of marrying into an old British family. He cares nothing about money. It is the name he wants. I noticed that he appeared smitten with you, and if you like him I'm sure it will be the chance of your life. He has the money; you have the lineage."
I had given Mr. Cummings permission to call upon me, and he came the very next evening. What was my surprise to hear him say, "Good evening, Miss Chumley; you are looking very well tonight."
"Miss Chumley?" I exclaimed, knitting my brows.
"Didn't I hear your name right?" he asked, surprised.
"Certainly not. It is Chomondelay."
"Oh! Beg pardon. We always call that name Chumley in England. Chomondelay is very long, you know."
When he had gone I went to my father at once and asked if our name was called Chumley in England. He admitted that it was. He had never said anything about this pronunciation to me since he feared that it might lessen my reverence for the family name.
Mr. Cummings called often, and it was evident that his intentions were serious. He seemed anxious to do away with the impression he had made in calling me Miss Chumley. He had a fine sonorous bass voice and pronounced Chomondelay beautifully, rolling the syllables on his tongue like rare old wine.
The first time I addressed him by his own name, or his name as I had heard it, I noticed that he started. I asked him if I had made a mistake, whereupon he colored, stammered and finally told me that he had pronounced it differently from the usual pronunciation, then turned the subject so quickly that I had no opportunity to pursue the subject further.
My admirer was suddenly called back to England by the serious illness of his mother and was obliged to leave his courtship unfinished or bring it to an abrupt termination. I shall not forget—women never forget such things—how he announced his departure, how I looked sadly down at the carpet and how, seizing my hand, he poured forth his tale of love. He did not become so familiar as to call me Beatrice. It was always Miss Chomondelay, and every time he spoke I seemed to hear one of the sweetest of the lower tones of a cello.
After telling me of his love he went on with his plan of forming through me that aristocratic association which his wealth, supported by my lineage, would give him. "I shall owe everything to you," he said. "Every door in England will fly open to the name Chomondelay."
The beloved name was a fitting climax to the offer. I threw myself into his arms, and we were betrothed.
He had been undecided about making his proposal then or returning across an ocean to do so; therefore he had put it off till the last minute. He was to sail at midnight and after a dozen kisses sprang away from me, entered a taxicab waiting for him at the door and drove to the steamer.
The first letter I received from him contained a postscript, "I spell my name as you pronounce it."
I thought that very singular, for I could think of but one pronunciation. However, I concluded it must be Cumyngs or something like that, for English people are prone to spell the most ordinary names in the most singular way. I hoped it was Cumyngs, for it sounded very aristocratic.
My lover returned three months later to take me to England as his bride. Our wedding cards were printed "Cummings and Chomondelay." I asked about the spelling of his name, but he put me off. We were married and sailed away to begin a new life—at least for me. We were received by relatives and friends on the steps of my husband's palatial country seat, and the first person who addressed me by my married name said:
"Welcome, Mrs. Cummdgeon."
I faint.

As soon as I was alone with my husband I began to reproach him with having deceived me. He said that when I made the mistake of calling him Cummings, considering the store I set upon an euphonious and aristocratic name, he simply could not set me right. However, there is some solace in my being able to have my cards printed "Mrs. Chomondelay Cummdgeon."
But they will call me Mrs. Chumley Cummdgeon in spite of all I can do.

THE FLOCKMASTER.
A shed that is warm and poorly ventilated will often cause the sheep's wool to loosen, besides injuring the animal's vitality.
Diseases get a fast hold of many a flock of sheep through foul drinking water. Never give stagnant water if you can help it.
Never buy a ram whose wool is scanty on the belly and legs. He should be well covered, and the fleece should be uniform.
No use to buy pure bred sheep if they are to be allowed to starve and rustle around for themselves. A scrub will do better under such conditions.
In selecting a ram always pick out one that stands square on his legs, shows courage and masculinity. A slow, poky animal will prove a disappointment.

W. J. Fraser, chief of the animal husbandry department of the University of Illinois, has recently published the results of some feeding tests, which show the comparative value of timothy hay and alfalfa as a ration for dairy cows. Sixteen cows were divided into two lots of eight each. Aside from their hay ration, they were fed exactly alike, each animal receiving ten pounds of corn stover and twelve pounds of grain. The milk from the two lots of cows sold at $1.30 per hundredweight. The results showed that with a ton of timothy worth $10, as it was at the time of the test, a ton of alfalfa was worth $20.80. This meant that, with alfalfa yielding at the rate of four tons per acre and timothy a ton and a half, an acre of alfalfa was worth $68.44 more than timothy when used as a feed for dairy cows. With milk fetching $2 per hundredweight the figures would be $91.88 instead of $68.44.

I was a Candidate for the Democratic Nomination for the same office at the primaries held in the spring of 1908, was defeated by only 86 votes and was next high candidate. This being my fifth announcement, feel that I am entitled in all fairness, to the Nomination at this time as our locality has not been represented in that direction for 41 years. Besides, I have at all times given my time and services in support of the Democratic Party.

H. J. GULDEN
The well known Mill Wright,
Republican Candidate for County Commissioner.

H. J. Gulden, candidate for the Republican nomination for County Commissioner, is a son of the late George Gulden, a soldier in Co. G., 166th, Pennsylvania Volunteers, and was born in Mount Pleasant township, June 3, 1849. After the usual term of schooling he learned the trade of wheel and millwrighting and is now one of the most capable millwrights in the State. For ten years he was engaged in business in Mount Pleasant township, but in 1876 moved to Bendersville and in 1879 to Menallen township, his present place of residence. Mr. Gulden has been all his life identified with the Republican party and has given to its welfare and success much time, energy and effort. He is an active member of the Lutheran church and has always been a progressive citizen of the county, using his effort to advance every project that had for its purpose the improvement of the county and its business.

Mr. Gulden has capacity, ability and industry and would fill the office of County Commissioner with advantage to the County and with credit to himself and the Republican party.

Owing to Mr. Gulden's present connections he regrets that he is unable to visit the voters personally and takes this means of soliciting their support.

FRENCH WARSHIP BLOWN TO PIECES

Over 300 Killed When Fire Reaches Magazine.

HARBOR STREWN WITH BODIES

More Than Half the Crew of the Liberte Perish, Many in Their Berths—Many Others Escape by Leaping Into the Sea.

Toulon, France, Sept. 26.—The first class battleship Liberte, one of the finest in the French fleet, blew up and sank while at anchor in the roadstead here, with a loss of at least 300 men. The Liberte had a crew of 717 men, of whom 140 were on shore leave. After the explosion 274 answered roll call, leaving 303 missing.

The preliminary explosions gave the men warning and many of them threw themselves into the sea and were picked up by small boats and taken to the other ships of the squadron or ashore.

Several small boats which had gone from the other warships to the aid of the Liberte sank when the final explosion occurred. Twenty men were killed and fifty injured on board the Democratic and there were fatalities on the Verite and Republique.

The Republique was damaged by a flying piece of the Liberte's armor and was obliged to dock hastily.

The dead from the Liberte include many officers as well as men. She had a complement of 714 men, but 140 of these, as well as Commander Jaures, were ashore at the time of the explosion.

Ship Torn to Pieces.

The first alarm of fire was followed by four successive explosions of increasing intensity as the fire neared the powder magazines, when a deafening explosion literally tore the great warship to pieces and sent her to the bottom a mass of twisted wreckage.

The force of the explosion was so great that huge fissures were opened in the steel armor and framework of the warship. A piece of armorplate was hurled against the cruiser Republique with great force, damaging her plates and causing her to dock hurriedly.

Scores of bodies were hurled high into the air, with huge fragments of framework, armor, bursting shells and the suffocating smoke from the exploded magazines.

On the first explosion the men rushed from their quarters and from 100 to 200 sought safety in plunging overboard. But the great body of men, officers and crew, remained on the ship, held by the discipline that had called them to quarters, and were hurled high in air or into the water as the culminating explosion tore the ship into fragments.

One report says the ship broke in two in the middle as she sank.

When the fire was discovered it did not appear to be serious, but it gained a quick advantage over the squad of sailors sent to extinguish it. Suddenly, without warning, the flames reached the magazines, which had not been flooded on account of the apparently trifling nature of the blaze.

The force of the explosions were terrific. They shook the vessel fore and aft, each one seemingly stronger than that preceding, opening up great fissures in the armor and framework of the vessel.

The vessel immediately became a mass of fire and smoke, and soon almost demolished by the terrific detonations, sank to the bottom of Toulon harbor.

Scores of the seamen died in their berths. Many of those injured leaped into the water and drowned before the boats from the other ships in the roadstead could reach them.

The carnage in the explosions was worse than could ever have occurred in an actual naval engagement. The first crash came when the crew was for the most part dispersed in various sections of the vessel. They were without warning of their danger.

Men below, who had not been awakened, were killed in their sleep. Others, awakened by the explosion, started to jump overboard and were caught by the second detonation.

From every side scores of sailors leaped overboard and swam frantically for safety, but scarcely more than 100 had plunged into the water before the series of detonations culminated in the terrific explosion that seemed to tear out the side of the great steel vessel, which swayed over to one side and swiftly sank.

Floating Bodies and Wreckage.
Within a few minutes bodies and wreckage were floating about in the disturbed waters that splashed around the upper works. In a wide circle around the spot where the craft had floated so proudly a few minutes before the seamen who escaped death were struggling desperately and small boats were picking them up as fast as they could be reached.

The rumble of the explosion was heard throughout the city and immense crowds collected at the wharves within a short time.

Nearly every vessel of the squadron lost some men from the parties sent to the aid of the Liberte. The Verite, a sister ship, was moored nearest, being about 225 yards from the burning battleship. Eight of the Verite's men were wounded by flying fragments blown from the Liberte or by pieces of bursting shells.

KING VICTOR OF ITALY.

He May Have a War on His Hands Over Tripoli.

ENSIGN DIES BY POISONED DART

Commander of Gunboat Pam-panga Slain.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Ensign Halter Belt, commanding the little gunboat Pampanga, was killed by hostile Yacans at the Basilian Islands, which form part of the Philippine archipelago. Several sailors of Ensign Belt's party were severely wounded.

Commander Fahs, in charge of the naval station at Olongapo, cabled the brief report from Commander Schoenfeld, of the gunboat Quiros, cruising in southern and Philippine waters. The report stated that there had been an action between the force from the gunboat Pampanga and hostile Yacans on the Basilian Islands.

J. H. Catherwood, ordinary seaman, was severely wounded; J. H. McGuire, hospital apprentice, and G. F. Hennechen, machinist's mate, second class, were slightly wounded.

Ensign Belt was a native of Texas, temporarily attached to the Pampanga. He was graduated from the naval academy in 1908 and was regularly attached to the destroyer Devatur. Catherwood lived in Springfield, Ill. McGuire lived in Gordonville, Mo., and Hennechen in Hartford, Conn.

Naval officers expressed the belief that the party was on an exploring expedition in the interior of the island of Basilian and suddenly met with the Yacans, who are a primitive Malay tribe and fanatical adherents of the Moslem faith. The Yacans are very poor and their principal weapon is the famous "sumpitan," or blow guns, with which they project poisoned darts to great distances.

Hunt For Locomotive Missing From Logging Camp Ends In Death.

Raleigh, N. C., Sept. 26.—A chase after a stolen engine on the tracks of a Norfolk, Va., lumber company wound up with a rear-end collision, in which Engineer H. D. Latham, of Elizabeth City, N. J., was killed.

A logging engine of the Greenleaf Johnson Lumber company was stolen Sunday. Latham jumped aboard his engine and started down the line on a hunt for the missing locomotive.

While going around a curve at Vaughn, near Norlina, his engine crashed into the stolen one and Latham was fatally injured. The engine thieves are still at large.

600 Railway Clerks Walk Out.

New Orleans, Sept. 26.—Between 500 and 700 railway clerks employed by the Illinois Central and Yazoo & Mississippi Valley railroads, walked out. It is said the strike resulted from the failure of the railroad officials to reopen negotiations with the clerks' organization.

In spite of a summer season which has been unusually dry, a whole lot of farmers who trusted to continued dry weather have been having a good deal of grief through leaving their grain in shock in the field. Not only has much of this grain been discolored and even sprouted by unexpected rains, but its presence in the field has prevented early fall plowing, which has so much in its favor. One would think that a fellow who had got caught in this way once would not be again

WAR OVER TRIPOLI NOW THREATENED

Italy Prepares to Fight Turkey For African Province.

CALL RESERVISTS TO COLORS

It Is Reported Turks Have Seized Italian Steamers and Italy Has Landed Troops on Coveted Soil.

London, Sept. 26.—A quarrel between Italy and Turkey, ostensibly over the treatment of Italian subjects and trade in Tripoli, a Turkish province, has reached a crisis, which may mean war with surprising rapidity.

The Italian government has called the Reservists of 1908 back to the colors, and warships and troops are now ready to sail for Tripoli itself.

Circumstantial reports were current in Berlin, Paris, Rome and Constantinople to the effect that Italian troops had already landed in Tripoli, and that the Italian colony in Tripoli had appealed to Rome for protection. Italian merchant ships are leaving Turkish ports without waiting for complete cargoes, and on Saturday morning an Italian liner was stopped in the Dardanelles on the way to Constantinople by an Italian consular official and turned back towards Italy without waiting even to land the mails.

In connection with rumors that Italian troops have landed in Tripoli it is said a Turkish ship and ammunition have been seized. The third squadron of the French navy has been ordered to assemble at Marseilles.

The Italian grievances against Turkey, according to what is given on an authority believed to be well posted, are said to be the boycott of Italian goods in Asia Minor and Tripoli, and the danger to Italian subjects in Tripoli, which has been increased by the recent return of the anti-Italian leader Guzman, who was exiled some time ago, and alleged attempts by Turkey to give trade there to non-Italian firms, though Italy claims preferential rights.

Nobody believes that Turkey will give up Tripoli for economic considerations or without instructing the Tripolitan authorities to offer resistance to the Italian advances. On the other hand, the friends of Italy do not believe that she proposes to take Tripoli with force, without having first attempted to settle the differences by means of diplomatic channels, although it is admitted that she has serious grievances.

It is improbable, however, that the Turks could be held back. For them to back down would bring about further internal troubles in Turkey, while on the other hand for them to go to war would mean an opportunity for which the Balkan states have long been waiting. On the whole, the outlook is dark.

The Turkish garrison in Tripoli is said to be about 30,000 strong and, according to the same authority, Italy is about to dispatch 50,000 troops thither. The Italian fleet includes eight modern battleships, nine armored cruisers and a large number of smaller craft. The effective force of the Turkish fleet consists of two old battleships, bought from Germany last year, and ten destroyers.

The Italian government is moving rapidly and with determination in the matter of an Italian protectorate over Tripoli. Its plans are no longer concealed, and its attitude is favored by all classes except the advanced section of the Socialists, who threaten to call a general strike in the event of hostilities.

Although not attaching much importance to this threat, the government has decided to call to the colors 112,000 reservists, so as to be prepared for all emergencies, both at home and abroad.

According to the information in official circles, the government still hopes to effect an amicable arrangement with Turkey, whereby Italy will secure a lease of Tripoli under the sovereignty of Turkey, paying therefor an annual rental. If Turkey definitely refuses to meet this proposal Italy will proceed with military measures.

The government is prepared to meet any aggressive measures on the part of Turkey, such as attacks upon the lives and property of Italian subjects in Turkey, in which case it is understood a naval demonstration will be made before Smyrna immediately.

War Rumors Excite Constantinople.

Constantinople, Turkey, Sept. 25.—Rumors that the Italian troops have been disembarked at various points in Tripoli cause some alarm here.

The Italian liner Romania, bound for Constantinople, on arrival in the Dardanelles, was boarded by the Italian vice consul, who ordered the captain to land his passengers within a half hour. The Romania sailed for Italy without landing the mails. It is reported that several Italian merchant ships have similarly taken their departure from Turkish ports.

The Porte has instructed the Turkish ambassador at Rome to ask the Italian government for an explanation of the movements of Italian steamers.

Stolypin's Successor Named.
Washington, Sept. 26.—Curtis G. Jr., American ambassador at St. Petersburg, advised the state department of the appointment of M. Kokovtsov as president of the council of ministers to succeed the late Minister Stolypin, who was assassinated several days ago.

COMEBACKS TO BE QUITE NUMEROUS

Many Players Once In Fast Company Are to Return.

THEY WERE NOT QUITE RIPE.

Through Draft and Purchase Both Major Leagues Hope to Be Benefited Next Spring by the Additions—Some Veterans to Be Given Another Trial.

"Comebacks" will be numerous at the big league training camps next spring—not aged "comebacks" of the class of Tom Hughes and Jimmy Callahan, but youngsters and semi-vets who were up before and failed to make good because of inexperience or accidents. Their relegation to the minors did not mean that they did not have the stuff in them. On the other hand, it simply meant that they were not quite ripe for fast company.

Consequently he goes back to develop. Well, there were many such men pulled back by the draft or purchase during the last few weeks. Cleveland has seven of them, in fact. Catcher O'Neill of Worcester was an Athletic recruit, as were Pitcher Collamore of Scranton and Utility Player Hyde Barr of New Orleans. Third Baseman Manush of New Orleans has been a member of the New York Giants as well as the Athletics. Outfielder Williams was with the Browns last spring, while Catcher Konick of Dayton was given a trial by Cincinnati. Third Baseman Bunting of Worcester was taken south by Brooklyn last spring.

Detroit gets a "comeback" in Pitcher Dubuc of Montreal, who was with Cincinnati for a season. Chicago gets a pair in Pitcher Hovlik, formerly of Washington, and Third Baseman Rath, who was tried out by the Athletics and Naps. St. Louis will try out First Baseman Danzig of Sacramento, once with Boston, and Pitcher Brown of Akron, who was a Cincinnati recruit a year ago.

Washington gets First Baseman Flynn, late of Pittsburgh; Shortstop Foster, formerly a Yankee, and Outfielder Moeller, once with the Pirates.

There are more "comeback" recruits in the National league, the list being headed by Otto Hess, bought by Boston. The Rustlers have also hooked First Basemen Houser of Indianapolis, who used to be with the Athletics.

Brooklyn has taken the most men. Ebbers' recruits are Paige, formerly of the Giants and Naps; Infielder Rollie, formerly of the Chicago White Sox; Outfielder Welchance, a former Philadelphia National; Vedder Stittin, once a Nap; Pitcher Carmichael, tried by Cincinnati; Earl Yingling, another ex-Nap; Jerry Downs, with Detroit for several years; Catcher Bob Higgins, another former Nap, and Catcher Shaw, a veteran who played with at least four big league clubs before he landed with Toronto.

Other National league "comebacks" are Pitcher Maxwell of New York, Outfielder Hyatt of Pittsburgh, Outfielder Cravath of Pittsburgh, Infielder Kirke of Boston and Pitcher Compton of Cincinnati.

but usually it is the same lurch. Shock thrashing is sort of habit and hard to break.

GREGG IS FITTING DISCOVERY

Cleveland Pitcher Regarded as Worthy Successor to Addie Joss.

Vern Gregg is the great pitching discovery of the season in the American league, baseball fans say. This youthful pitcher came in the nick of time to keep the Cleveland club on the baseball map. He is a worthy successor of Addie Joss as the premier pitcher of the Buckeye metropolis.

There is no denying the coming of Gregg has made a pennant possibility of the Cleveland club—in 1912. No club could go through the series of disasters that has befallen the Naps in this year of grace and survive to enter the fray as a contender for the bunting. Nearly every great player of the Naps' galaxy of stars has been out of the game for various periods. At one time this season Lajoie, Jackson, Turner, Birmingham and Easterly were forced from the game, and a makeshift team was necessary.

BRIGHTEEN-UP! Now is the time to protect your home from the storms and snows of the coming winter months, for unless the paint film is sound and in good condition, the frosts and damp will get into the lumber and open up the grain and gradually start cracking, checking and decay. Then there'll be need for repairs, and it's far cheaper to paint now than to repair or rebuild later on.

But when you paint, be sure to use good paint. It's always the most economical in the end. Cheap, inferior paints don't last and then you have all the trouble and expense of painting again. You shouldn't figure by the gallon; figure by the surface the paint covers and the time it wears. That's the sensible way.

We recommend Sherwin-Williams Paint, Prepared (SWP), because we know it's made of the purest materials: pure white lead, pure zinc, pure linseed oil and driers. SWP represents the most scientific combination of these ingredients, mixed and ground by powerful machinery. The formula is on every can. 'SWP is the best paint to use, covers the greatest surface and wears the longest.

Come in and get a color card and let us tell you what colors will look best on your home.

To the Democratic Voters and Democratic Candidates of Adams County.

By reason of being unjustly accused of using my influence in behalf of certain candidates for nomination at the Primary Election to be held on Saturday, Sept. 29, 1911, I feel it my duty to repeat publicly my statement made before the six-member Committee and a large number of Democratic Candidates present at the meeting of the Democratic County Committee on June 10th, last. Where I said:

"That individually and as Chairman of the Democratic organization I will take no hand in the Primary Election; that under the present system of nominating it is for the People to say who shall be their candidates."

"That I have that confidence in the people that they will nominate a good strong ticket worthy the support of every Democrat and all good citizens, and that after the nomination I will take off my coat for its election."

I trust that by the confidence manifested toward me by the Democrats of Adams County and my business relations both public and private with the people that they will believe me when I say that I have not and will not exercise, or attempt to exercise my influence whatever that may be, either for or against any Candidate at the coming Primary, and that I will strictly adhere to the above statement.

Respectfully submitted,

S. MILEY MILLER, Chairman Democratic County Committee.

E. P. WISOTZKEY

Candidate for the Democratic nomination for COUNTY TREASURER

Among the many candidates who are seeking the office of County Treasurer appears the name of Emanuel P. Wisotzkey, a resident of the 3rd ward, Gettysburg, where he has successfully conducted a grocery store for 33 years, on the corner of Washington and West High Streets. He has reached his fifty-fourth year and has always been a well-known democrat; but notwithstanding his politics he was elected at four different times a member of the town council in a ward that usually gives a republican majority of sixty to eighty votes.

Many of the public improvements in Gettysburg are owing to the business sagacity and the untiring devotion to duty on the part of Mr. Wisotzkey. For twenty-five years he has been a member of the Gettysburg Fire Department and for twelve years he has been Chief of that department, even unto this day.

Public office is public trust, and hence, whether a man is poor or rich, whether he has been in the field often or the first time, should not govern the voter. Public interests are paramount to private interests, and only those who can be best qualified to advance this public interest should be considered. Those who know Mr. Wisotzkey feel that he is in every way well fitted to take care of this important public trust. A Vote for Mr. Wisotzkey at the primaries on September 30th, will be highly appreciated.

BASEBALL STARS WHO STILL STICK

Diamond Shining Lights of 1910 Twinkle Brighter Than Ever.

M'GRAW FOOLS WISE ONES.

Showing of Rube Marquard This Season Surprised Many Experts—Many New World Beaters Make Good, but Fail to Usurp Many Vets.

With the end of the major league season in sight, this seems as good a time as any to review some of the points which will make 1911 history in the annals of the game, if there really be any annals. We do this to beat some of the real baseball historians like George Moreland, Pop Morse and Hughie Fullerton to it. Now for the fatal plunge:

Ty Cobb of Detroit further strengthened his hold on the honor of being the world's greatest ball player. Charley Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, called him this in a famous interview last year. Nothing the Georgia Cracker has done so far can take this remarkable title from him. He has been largely responsible in keeping the Tigers in their high estate. In batting, base running and fielding he has been premier in all that that much overworked word indicates.

After having been panned by New York critics for two years and more McGraw of the Giants now has the satisfaction of seeing his $11,000 beauty, Rube Marquard, develop into one of the best southpaws in the country. Getting off to another punk start, this former American association star has blossomed out into a world beater, and it is due to him in a great measure that the Giants are very, very formidable contestants for the National league title. The changeable New York critics now are extolling McGraw's foresight. So hats off to the Giant's manager, please!

Player Stovall of the Cleveland Naps has proved himself a first rate manager for "one so young." The Naps have really played better than under him than they have in years. The players seem to want to make his regime as much of a success as possible, which accounts for the very commendable manner in which they have been playing the past two months. They have risen out of the depths to a position which is not half bad, being contestants with the White Sox, the Yankees and the Speed Boys of Boston for third notch.

Ed Walsh of the Sox has pitched his first no hit game after knocking at the door for years. This caps his truly great career, and he now can rest in content. It would have broken his heart to retire from the game without that honor. Ed has pitched several one hit games. One tough one in particular, played some four years ago in Chicago grounds against the Naps, was a cruel blow to Edward. The one hit was a mighty dinky one in the eighth inning. Then another hit that might have been knocked down occurred a couple of weeks ago against Boston. But the best game Walsh ever pitched was against Chesbro of the Yankees six years ago. That former spitball king held the Sox to one hit and lost, 1 to 0, which is going some.

Another Ed—Reulbach of the Cubs—retains his unchallenged title of the wildest man of the leagues. For years the Cub fans have shuddered to see him ascend the box. As it generally happened there were half a dozen men passed, one or two hit, and then Edward was called to the bench. Most of the Chicago fans wonder why he has been kept this long time. But perhaps the Cub management feels compelled to retain one who is so consistent. And we still have the same old headlines in the papers—in fact, it happened only recently—"Reulbach Wild, Cubs Lose."

The grand form shown by the St. Louis Cardinals and their amazing spurt earlier in the season are one of the year's best offerings. It is possible that next year St. Louis will have a winner.

The Boston Nationals, with two comebacks—Kling and Donlin—have been jarring several of the "hopes" of late. The Cubs were severely jolted on their last visit to Boston. This is noteworthy enough to deserve mention here, inasmuch as Boston generally is satisfied with one victory a year from Chicago.

An Enthusiast. Towne—Oh, yes, he's quite an enthusiast. He goes in for things in real earnest. Browne—Yes; if some one were to send him on a wild goose chase he'd speak of himself afterward as a sportsman.—Catholics Standard.
